

RE: Mattinson Partnership

As the Recruitment Manager for RPS Planning & Development, I have worked with Mattinson Partnership for nearly 10 years. I have always found them to be very professional and knowledgeable and they invariably supply good, relevant candidates for our business.

This was evidenced recently when they sourced a very good candidate for an extremely challenging senior position in our London office. Our other avenues had failed to identify anyone suitable and we were very impressed with both the quality of the candidate and the communication with the agency.

As such, I would recommend the Mattinson Partnership to anyone looking for a supplier who takes time to understand their business and actively helps to support the recruitment process.
